Man faces sex-related charges

Victims, between 19 and 22 years old, had cellphones stolen, some were sexually assaulted, according to police

An Ottawa man is facing charges of sexual assault, theft and other offences after police say women were offered rides home and then molested.

In at least one instance, police say, a man offered a victim a ride home from the Byward Market in an "underground" or bandit taxi.

"In this case, they may have been trying to solicit taxis when he pulls up," said Staff Sgt. John McGetrick

The suspect, Magabi Lashury Suleiman, 29, is charged with two counts of sexual assault, three counts of forcible confinement, four counts of theft, one count of theft of a credit card as well as criminal harassment and intimidation.

He is also charged with breaching the terms of a recognizance. When he was arrested, Suleiman was awaiting trial on seven counts of trafficking crack cocaine and other related charges.

"The fact that this happened to four women — the potential exists that it could have happened to more, though we have nothing to confirm that."
OTTAWA POLICE STAFF SGT. JOHN MCGETRICK

McGetrick said police are publicizing the case because there could be more victims who have not come forward.

Police are also reminding young men and women to stay vigilant when they're out with friends.

Bandit cab assault case spurs call to public for help

If you see something suspicious — like an illegal taxi trolling for women — report it to police, said a local group yesterday, after police charged a suspected bandit taxi driver with sexual assault.

It's up to the whole community to prevent sexual violence, said Ottawa Coalition To End Violence Against Women (OCTIVAW) executive director Erin Williams.

"If there's a car driving around and you notice that they're talking to young women, or young men for that matter, it's people's responsibility to report suspicious behaviour to police," said Williams. "It's never a women's fault and they should never be blamed for sexual assault, regardless of what they may be doing."

Police are directing people who want information about staying vigilant while they're out socializing to attend a community meeting on May 19 at city hall.

At that meeting, OCTIVAW, Crime Prevention Ottawa, and the Ottawa Rape Crisis Centre will be asking young people about their views on the connection between alcohol and sexual violence for a research project on that subject.

'Bit of luck' helps contain gas blaze

Fire destroys minivan and gas pump, but firefighters quench the blaze in 10 minutes ◗ People closest to fire did 'everything right'

SEAN MCKIBBON
@METRONEWS.CA

Quick-thinking employees, fail-safe mechanisms and a bit of luck kept a fire that destroyed an Ultramar gas pump and a minivan from turning into a big fireball, says an Ottawa Fire Service spokesperson.

Just after 7 a.m. yesterday a fuel tanker had finished refilling underground tanks and was leaving the station parking lot when the vehicle clipped a pump and tore it off its base, fire service spokesman Marc Messier said. Sparks from tearing electrical wires in the gasoline pump likely started the fire, he said.

That's when the three people closest to the blaze did everything right, said Messier. The tanker driver moved his truck away from the gas station. The minivan driver escaped the situation unharmed and the gas station attendant hit an emergency cut-off switch stopping the flow of fuel, and then promptly called 911. Built-in safety features in the pump also would have helped, Messier said.

The Ultramar store wasn't damaged, but the canopy covering the refuelling station suffered significant damage from the heat and smoke. There were no injuries.

The Ottawa Police Services and the Technical Standards and Safety Authority are investigating this incident.

"It was a combination of safety devices, the gas station attendant killing the power as he's trained to do and the tanker truck left — otherwise we could have had that Hollywood special effect. All that and a little bit of luck."

Airport sees passenger influx

VOLUME. The Ottawa International Airport Authority released their 2010 Annual Report yesterday, highlighting a 5.7 per cent increase in total passenger volume at 4,473,894 passengers. Paul Benoit, the authority's president and CEO, said that number is still increasing.

With $17 million in profit before depreciation, the airport invested that money in its $34 million Parkade project, restaurant renovations, and a new fleet of runway snow plows, Benoit said.

Tiësto's Ottawa debut on July 1

- Pre-sale tickets now available for members of the Tiësto.com fan club
- The Escapade Music Festival is for a 19-and-over crowd

He has performed on stages in nearly every corner of the world for crowds as large as 250,000 people, and on Canada Day the man known as the legend in electronic music will make his Ottawa debut performance.

Dutch DJ and music producer Tiësto will be pleasing the crowd on July 1 on the George Street grounds at the second edition of the Escapade Music Festival.

Local promoters at Projekt-Marquis-A-List made a trip to New York City in December to convince Tiësto's agent to bring him to Ottawa.

"It's everybody's dream to get Tiësto. He's the biggest (DJ) in the world," said Nick Vachon, one of the promoters.

His partner, Nick Orphanos, said the buzz is building around the event and they will soon announce two more famed DJs who will join Tiësto during the event.

Deliberate flooding may drown farmland

Brandon city official says 300 homes could be affected by controlled release ◐ Agriculture minister says no guarantee of total compensation

Enforcing leave

Police were patrolling Brandon's south side to ensure residents from about 400 homes were obeying orders to leave.

- Natural gas lines were shut off to homes due to fears that flood water could shift pipes and break them.
- Evacuees have been given up to $29.90 a person each day and told to stay at a hotel or relative's home.
- Returning home was only allowed in order to retrieve medication or check on sump pumps.

Lourens Arendse was grading and bagging onions on his prosperous vegetable farm in south-central Manitoba as recently as Monday afternoon.

By yesterday morning, he was frantically loading sandbags into his truck to try to protect his property from the leading edge of a controlled release from the Assiniboine River.

While the province says 150 homes could be impacted by the release, at least one municipal official says as many as 300 houses and some of the province's most fertile farmland could be swamped.

In Brandon, city crews, volunteers, army reservists and jail inmates seemed to be winning the battle against the swollen Assiniboine River despite steady rain.

But the situation was different further east where Manitoba announced it would open barriers and allow the Assiniboine to spill over a 225-square-kilometre area to relieve pressure on downstream dikes. THE CANADIAN PRESS

A quick decision?

Decisions involving the release, which could start today, were made within hours on Monday, said Kam Blight, reeve of the Municipality of Portage la Prairie.

"We were first notified mid-afternoon. We were told we had a few days and then plans changed as of 11 o'clock last night."

Blight said the province's decision to deliberately flood the area, was made because of the consequences of an uncontrolled rush of water through a burst dike. But many are wondering if it couldn't have been another region to take one for the team.

◗ Tabloid story of a Nazi-themed orgy led ex-car racing boss to appeal to European Court of Human Rights ◗ Ruling: Freedom of speech trumps privacy

An ex-car racing boss who sued a tabloid over a story about his sadomasochistic orgy with dominatrixes lost his privacy case yesterday in the European Court of Human Rights — a ruling applauded by free speech advocates.

Max Mosley won a lawsuit against Britain's News of the World tabloid for its 2008 front-page story claiming he, the president of the governing body overseeing Formula One racing, had an hours-long Nazi-themed orgy with five women. Mosley, the son of a former fascist leader, acknowledged the orgy but denied the Nazi theme.

Despite winning sizable damages and legal costs, Mosely didn't stop fighting.

He then took the case to the European court in France, which can intervene in British court rulings. Mosley claimed that his privacy rights, which are protected by the European Convention on Human Rights, should force news organizations to notify subjects before publishing details about their private lives.

▶ Max Mosley

But the court disagreed, saying European law didn't require pre-notification and that such a requirement could have a chilling effect on freedom of speech.

More than 10,000 families stay at Ronald McDonald Children's House each year

Like many parents, Angela Gamble-Schell was blindsided when, last August, doctors diagnosed her 12-year-old daughter Alysha with pineoblastoma, a malignant brain tumour.

"A week earlier, my kids and I were watching stories of little children on the Sick Kids channel and I thought to myself, 'I'm so glad that my kids are healthy' ... a week later, we ended up down at Sick Kids ourselves," she said.

Alysha's illness required her to remain near the hospital for some time while she underwent tests, radiation and high-dose chemotherapy.

"The doctors were telling us this is a very long road," Gamble-Schell said.

"And we worried about how we were going to stay in the city with Alysha."

A social worker suggested the Ronald McDonald Children's House, a charity-run home for families, like the Schells, who need supportive, long-term accommodations while their child undergoes medical treatment.

The House receives part of its funding through events like today's McHappy Day, where one dollar from each Big Mac, coffee, tea and Happy Meal goes toward a variety of child-focused charities.

"McHappy Day is an opportunity to really help the Ronald McDonald House and other children's charities get the kind of community grassroots support they need," said Cathy Loblaw, executive director of the Ronald McDonald House Charities of Canada.

After close to a year, Alysha has conquered her illness and the Schells will soon head home.

"It's been a long road and it was very scary, but she's our hero now," the proud mother said.

$8.5-billion US takeover deal is largest in software firm's history

Microsoft's $8.5-billion US purchase of Skype is the biggest deal in the software maker's 36-year history but also means a billion-dollar payout for the Canada Pension Plan Investment Board, a major stakeholder in the popular Internet telephone service.

Buying Skype would give Microsoft a potentially valuable communications tool as it tries to become a bigger force on the Internet and in the increasingly important smartphone market. Microsoft said it will marry Skype's functions to its Xbox game console, Outlook email program and Windows smartphones. The company said it will continue to support Skype on other software platforms.

The CPPIB paid $300-million for a 15 per cent stake in Skype in 2009 when the majority of the service was sold off by eBay Inc. for about $2 billion US to an investor group that also included Skype's original founders. EBay kept the remaining 35 per cent interest in the company.

However, the settlement of patent litigation has diluted the board's stake to a current 11.7 per cent, for which it will receive $930 million if the deal goes through — tripling its initial investment.

The sellers also include eBay Inc. and private equity firms Andreessen Horowitz and Silver Lake, in which CPPIB holds about a $50-million stake. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

About 170 million people log in to Skype's services every month, though not all of them make calls.

Google launches cloud music storage service

- Users will be able to access music from anywhere
- Reaction of recording industry is unclear

Google is launching a new service in the U.S. that lets users store their music remotely and access it from any compatible device, including mobile phones, tablets and computers.

Google Inc. said the service would be available by invitation only starting yesterday. The service, "Music Beta by Google" will be free at first while it is being tested. The company, which made the announcement at its yearly conference for software developers in San Francisco, did not say what it plans to charge later.

20,000

Google said users will be able to store up to 20,000 songs.

Users will be able to load up to 20,000 songs to "the cloud" — tech speak for storing data on remote servers and accessing it through an Internet connection. Users can create playlists manually, or based on a particular song. (The software adds songs to a playlist that sound similar to that particular song.) Think of it as the Internet radio service Pandora, but based on your own music collection.

Google, also unveiled a movie rental service that's now available on the Android market, its answer to Apple's app store.

And in a future-is-now moment, the company previewed a service it is calling Android @ Home, which lets Android applications interact with appliances and electronic gadgets in your home.

FEEDING OUR CRIMINAL INTENT

JUST SAYIN' ...

PAUL SULLIVAN
METRO

When was the last time you broke the law?

If you're like the average Brit, it was probably the last time you got into the car: Running a red light, texting, speeding, not wearing your seatbelt, parking in the handy handicapped spot, or bumping into someone's car and skulking away from the scene of the accident without leaving contact info.

Nor is the average Brit's criminal activity restricted to the automobile. In a recent gocompare.com survey of 3,000 ordinary felons, 28 per cent admitted to taking drugs and another 34 per cent confessed to having sex in public — no word on whether or not they were wearing their seatbelt at the time.

The not-so-veddy proper British break the law an average of 21 times per year. When they're not having sex in public (probably in their cars, where they appear to do everything but drive), they're downloading illegal music or failing to pick up after their pooch.

"When they're not having sex in public (probably in their cars, where they appear to do everything but drive), they're downloading illegal music or failing to pick up after their pooch."

Here in the colonies, it can't be much better. Because in England, everyone is jammed together; there's a surveillance camera every six feet, and if you even think about breaking the law, they've got you on video. Here in the New World, there's plenty of wide open space to evade detection.

Speaking of confessions, I'm probably guilty of every violation on the survey, although I can't remember the last time I had sex in public and don't know how to download music illegally (without getting a virus). But the spirit is willing.

There's comfort in numbers. According to the survey, 79 per cent of Brits violate the speed limit. And that's only because traffic is bad.

Are people getting worse or are there just too many laws? The spokesman for the survey company thinks Brits are so used to breaking the law on a daily basis they hardly notice. And he thinks it's much worse than 21 times per year. Most people don't know, for example, that it's illegal to ride your bike on the sidewalk or fail to pick up after your cockapoo.

It's just too easy to break the vast array of unenforceable laws that allegedly govern our behaviour. The solution — to pass more laws in an attempt to bludgeon us into submission just feeds our criminal intent.

So it's kind of hilarious when Stephen Harper says he is going to get tough on crime and we all nod our heads in solemn accord. Right.

And by the way, how many laws did HE break yesterday?

OTTAWA. In the past I have always been a supporter of NDP policy and continue to agree with many of their principles.

However, the recent articles outlining their intended efforts to strengthen Quebec's language laws upset me.

Every position in federal and provincial governments does not require French language skills. Many people know someone who was paid to attend mandatory French language training and never uses it.

Jack Layton

Many university educated anglophones are excluded from jobs and careers because of current policy. The language restrictions need to be relaxed, not get more stringent. I have no problem with advancing bilingual candidates where a position truly warrants it, since speaking two languages is certainly an asset. I feel so strongly about this issue that the NDP has lost me as a supporter.

Rome rejects rumbling rumours

Italian officials are going to extraordinary lengths to try to debunk an urban legend predicting a devastating earthquake in Rome today.

The country's civil protection department has posted an information packet on its website stressing that quakes can't be predicted and Rome isn't particularly at risk.

The national geophysics institute will open its doors to the public today to inform the curious and the concerned about seismology.

The effort is all designed to debunk a purported prediction of a major Roman quake on May 11, 2011, attributed to self-taught seismologist Raffaele Bendandi, who died in 1979. The only problem is Bendandi never made the prediction, says Paola Lagorio, president of the association in charge of Bendandi's documentation.

Lagorio insists there is no evidence in Bendandi's papers of any such precise a prediction and blames unidentified forces who want to "frighten people and create this situation of panic that is attributed to a prediction Bendandi never made."

His booty's full of awards

Geoffrey Rush tells Metro how he lives the life of an award-winning actor and a pirate

NED EHRBAR

METRO WORLD NEWS IN HOLLYWOOD

HANDOUT

▶ Geoffrey Rush plays Captain Barbossa in the fourth installment of The Pirates of the Caribbean.

Coming off the critical raves — plus awards and nominations — he received for The King's Speech, Australian actor Geoffrey Rush is easing back into his pirate drawl to once again play Capt. Barbossa opposite Johnny Depp's Jack Sparrow in Pirates of the Caribbean: On Stranger Tides.

Metro sat down for a one-on-one with the Oscar winner.

I hear you snuck into one of the press screenings to catch the film.

I thought I wanted to hold off until [the premiere at] Disney Land and do all of that stuff, but there are three journeys in this film that are on individual ships, so I only knew everything that happened to Barbossa and the Royal Navy on the Providence, but I had no idea how they'd shot the mermaid stuff, how they'd done the Queen Anne's Revenge. It was fantastic; it was really thrilling.

What do you think of how Barbossa has progressed from the first film?

It's an enjoyable thing. I think we would've run out of validity for him being part of the storyline if he'd remained only the kind of dark, black-hearted mercenary villain from Part One. And within the story, in the trilogy and now in Part Four, they've brought in Cutler Beckett from the East India Trading Company as a kind of corporate villain adversary for Jack Sparrow, and there's been Davy Jones and now we've got Blackbeard. That's given Barbossa room to move.

With two more films planned for the series, where do you see him going?

Johnny and I were saying, you know, if only these two guys could get together, they would be the best kick-ass team in the world. Because Jack's got an extraordinary daring, improvisational, "take the crises as they come and deal with them" (attitude), and Barbossa fancies himself as a rather brilliant strategic long-term-planning mastermind. But they're always at odds, completely.

Are you familiar with the phrase "EGOT"?

I've been made aware of it. I know it came up in a 30 Rock episode.

It means winning an Emmy, a Grammy, an Oscar and a Tony. You have three. Do you have any plans to try to win a Grammy?

(laughs) Oh, well, you know. I had no thought way back even of being honoured by the Academy with an Oscar, and I remember thinking, "It's highly unlikely that I'll end up doing anything for American television, so where would an Emmy come from?"

Let alone a Tony, because — particularly with Exit the King, taking an Australian production to Broadway, there was no precedent for that.

But the Grammy thing, I don't know. I'll have to put out a rather boring album of poetry or something.

(laughs) You know, it's not keeping me awake.

Canada gets to celebrate an over-the-top royal wedding of its own this week thanks to South Park.

The foul-mouthed animated series spoofs the nuptials of Will and Kate on Wednesday with a special episode all about a Canuck royal union.

This ceremony features "the prince of Canada," who is "aboot" to wed a princess in a televised ceremony watched by "literally thousands."

The episode airs Wednesday on the Comedy Network and repeats Friday.

▶ Al Pacino arrives at the HBO Emmy party.

Pacino's gotta be in Gotti

Al Pacino is telling a new mob family story in the crime saga Gotti: Three Generations.

Pacino will play Gambino crime family underboss Neil Dellacroce, an associate and mentor to John Gotti Sr. (John Travolta), says the film's producer, Fiore Films.

Gotti reunites Pacino with Levinson, who directed the actor in his role as Dr. Jack Kevorkian in last year's TV movie You Don't Know Jack, for which Pacino won an Emmy. Levinson also was a producer on Pacino's 1997 crime drama Donnie Brasco and co-wrote his 1979 court saga And Justice for All.

The cast also includes Lindsay Lohan, Joe Pesci and Travolta's wife, Kelly Preston.

"There's this whole thing about fathers and sons that plays through this piece," Levinson said of the film, based on the life story of Gotti's son, John Gotti Jr.

"You had a huge character in John Gotti, who's basically old school and believed in the structure of that whole system, and the son at a certain point in time basically begins to reject it and wants out of it. He says, 'I can't live my life this way,' so I think that's a real conflict," said Levinson.

Fiore Films made the announcement yesterday in Cannes, where the 64th Cannes Film Festival opens today.

"Al Pacino is one of the finest actors of all time and will bring an unsurpassed level of reality and excitement to the film," said Marc Fiore, the company's CEO.

The big casting question left is who will play Gotti Jr.

"My guess is it's going to be someone that we may not really know," Levinson said. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PRIESTS DOMINATE BIG SCREEN

IN FOCUS

RICHARD CROUSE
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

What role do Paul Bettany, Robert de Niro, Rowan Atkinson and Max von Sydow share? Mr. Jennifer Connelly, the Oscar winner, Mr. Bean, and the legendary Swedish superstar all have one part in common; they have all played priests on the big screen.

In this weekend's post-apocalyptic action horror film, Priest, Bettany plays the title character, a warrior pastor hunting the vampires who kidnapped his niece. Based on Min-Woo Hyung's graphic novels, the movie also features Christopher Plummer as the Monsignor, described by the legendary Canadian actor as "a horrible priest gone wrong — a lovely, stylish villain."

In the Barry Levinson film, Sleepers, De Niro was Father Bobby, a Hell's Kitchen priest who lies in court to prevent four of his parishioners from going to jail for killing a sadistic prison guard.

Atkinson played Father Gerald, a new vicar performing his first marriage ceremony in Four Weddings and a Funeral. The tongue-tied priest has some of the film's funniest lines, including, "In the name of the father, the son and the holy goat. Er... ghost."

Probably the most famous movie celebrant is Father Lankester Merrin, as portrayed by Max von Sydow in The Exorcist and the Exorcist II: The HereticVon. Sydow is one of the few actors to have played both God in The Greatest Story Ever Told and the Devil in Needful Things. But, it his first film and the iconic line "The Power of Christ compels you!" that is most memorable.

Fresh directors take the spotlight at Cannes

Only 49 of more than 17,000 films selected for screening

JÉRÔME VERMELIN
SCENE@METRO.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN FRANCE

Who said Cannes is a private club? The 64th Cannes Film Festival, which opens today, is full of fresh new talents with seven first time directors, two of them candidates for the famous Palme d'Or.

"It's a happy coincidence," says Cannes boss Thierry Frémaux. "We didn't choose young directors on purpose, but it turned out they deserved to compete with the likes of Pedro Almodovar, Nanni Moretti or Lars Von Trier."

Among the newcomers is Australian writer Julia Leigh with her first film, Sleeping Beauty. This erotic tale of a young call girl, who forgets about her clients in the morning, stars Emily Browning, the lead actress in Hollywood blockbuster Sucker Punch. Another first time director is Austrian Markus Schleinzer, a former casting director of Palme d'Or winner Michael Haneke. His movie, Michael, may create strong controversy since its main character is a pedophile murderer.

Other fresh directors are French actress Maiwenn, who will present Polisse, a cop movie with French rapper JoeyStarr; the Danish Nicolas Winding Refn, who brings, Drive, his first American film starring actor Ryan Gosling; and Scottish director Lynne Ramsay, with We Need to Talk About Kevin, the portrait of a teenage sociopath.

Could they win the Palme d'Or? It happened in the past. Martin Scorsese with Taxi Driver in 1976, Steven Soderbergh with Sex, Lies and Videotape in 1989, Australian Jane Campion in 1993 with The Piano and Quentin Tarantino with Pulp Fiction in 1994. Who will be next?

Hot on Captain Jack Sparrow's trail

The fourth installment of the Pirates of the Caribbean franchise was filmed in some amazing locations around the globe that are worthy of a voyage of your own to explore

NED EHRBAR
TRAVEL@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN HOLLYWOOD

The producers behind the Pirates of the Caribbean franchise didn't let the series' name limit them when it came to locations for the latest film, sending Johnny Depp's loveable Capt. Jack Sparrow around the world in search of the fabled Fountain of Youth, from London to Hawaii and, of course, to the Caribbean.

Metro has handily charted his course so that you can embark on your own quest.

FIRST STOP: LONDON

The film starts with a high-speed carriage chase through 18th century London, something difficult to recreate in 2011. But while in England's capital, check out some of the film's exterior locations, including the Old Royal Naval College in Greenwich and Hampton Court Palace, once the home of Henry VIII, which stood in for St. James Court.

SECOND STOP: HAWAII

The On Stranger Tides action then heads to Hawaii. Most of the film's sailing footage was shot in the pristine waters off the coast of Oahu, with the crew making landfall on Kauai. "There's a section of this movie which is very Indiana Jones-like, where there's a trek through the most amazing jungles you've ever seen," says production designer John Myhre. "We found these unbelievable jungles on Kauai — jungles, waterfalls. Huge over-scaled growth, the most beautiful mountains you've ever seen."

DISNEY

▶ Palominito Beach in Puerto Rico is just one of the great locations that was used for shooting of Pirates of the Caribbean: On Stranger Tides.

THIRD STOP: PUERTO RICO

Finally, the film winds up in the actual Caribbean, shooting on the gorgeous white sands of Palominito, an islet off the northeastern coast of Puerto Rico. The uninhabited gem is reachable by boat, and only Depp and co-star Penelope Cruz set foot on the beach, with the rest of the crew bobbing off-shore so as not to leave any footprints. The crew also filmed scenes on the main island, using Old San Juan's spectacular Castillo de San Cristobal, a massive fort built by the Spanish in 1783.

60 seconds

GETTING THE LOOK OF ON STRANGER TIDES

Academy Award-winning production designer John Myhre told us about filming and travelling for the latest Pirates of the Caribbean.

How did the look of this installment differ from the others?
Our movie had a much more rugged look to it, so our world of Pirates of the Caribbean wasn't necessarily white-sand beaches and beautiful palm trees. We found beautiful rocky areas. We used a beautiful spot on Oahu called Halona Cove as a rocky cove that they need to go to start their trek on finding some mermaids.

If you were to return to one of the film's locations for a holiday, which would it be?
I just fell in love with Kauai. Kauai to me was everything that you want Hawaii to be. It was just such lush, beautiful, gorgeous vegetation.

Edmonton, the city of festivals

There is a wide variety of events on this summer in Alberta's capital
Auto racing, buskers and folk music

JOHN ULAN/THE CANADIAN PRESS

▶ IndyCars are set to hit the streets of Edmonton again this summer from July 22-24. It is just one of the exciting events going on in the city that is bound to draw in visitors.

Visitors, start your engines!

A revamped IndyCar race at the downtown airport of Alberta's capital city highlights a summer of vacation fun in what is known as the province's "Festival City."

"Bring your earplugs and bring your sunblock," said Anne Roy of Octane Motorsports, which is overseeing the July 22-24 Edmonton Indy.

It's the sixth open-wheel race to run in the city but the first on a revamped 13-turn circuit that features a straightaway rivalling the super-oval track at the famed Indianapolis Speedway.

"I'm excited to go out and see exactly where the track is going to lay out," said Toronto's Paul Tracy, one of three Canadian drivers who will suit up for the race against high-profile rivals including Will Power, Dario Franchitti and Danica Patrick.

"The old Edmonton track was one of the toughest and most physically demanding tracks you come across, (but) it was time for a change," he said.

"I'm confident the new track will be even more exciting. It's going to be better for passing."

Joining Tracy will be fellow Canadians James Hinchcliffe of Toronto and Alex Tagliani of Lachenaie, Que.

The Indy race is just one of the premier events taking place in Edmonton this summer.

The festival season kicks off with The Works Art and Design Festival from June 23 to July 5.

It's the largest art and design festival of its kind in North America and will showcase the work of artists from around the world in more than 250 exhibits, workshops and performances in sites in and around the downtown core.

Those who want to bask in buskers can stay in the heart of the city and enjoy the Edmonton International Street Performers Festival from July 8-17 in Churchill Square, beside the glass pyramid roof of City Hall.

It's a pass-the-hat payment system for the impromptu crowds expected to watch an international band of jugglers, acrobats, hip hop musicians and sword swallowers.

Events really heat up in late July with the Indy, a Taste of Edmonton and Capital EX.

Capital EX is Edmonton's long-running midway carnival, the successor to the old Klondike Days. It's famous for its carnival rides, midway, casino, parades, concerts and nightly fireworks. The show this year is from July 22-31.

EX-fans will also be able to watch youth between ages five and 21 sing, dance and act on stage in the 25th annual Northern Star Talent Search.

The popular Taste of Edmonton event runs July 21-30. Downtown visitors with a sweet-tooth or simply with a taste for adventure can sample food from a variety of city restaurants set up in booths in Churchill Square.

The Edmonton Folk Music Festival hits the stage from Aug. 4 to Aug. 7 in Gallagher Park, just south of downtown. Music lovers can recline on blankets on hillside and soak in the sounds. Confirmed artists for this year include k.d. lang and Joe Louis Walker.

From July 30 to Aug. 1 is the long-running Heritage Festival at William Hawrelak Park, just west of the core. It's an annual celebration of the city's multicultural heritage. There are 63 pavilions set up on the grass representing 85 cultures from around the world. There are dance performances, food, crafts, and story tellers. Admission is free. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Don't miss the fringe fest

The capstone to the season is the widely acclaimed Edmonton International Fringe Theatre Festival.

This year is the 30th anniversary of what has become the largest theatre event of its kind in North America. It will take place Aug. 11 to 21, and promises a range of works from the endearingly kitschy to unforgettable moments of theatre magic. Off-season travel ideas

FLICKR: TRAILSOURCE.COM

Head to the Hills

Ski resorts remain popular destinations off-season; vacationers can ride ski lifts into the mountains for hiking, mountain biking and many other summer activities. But you will spend much less for lodging than during the winter.

"You can get a really great discount, I would say somewhere between 20 to 40 per cent," by booking off-season, says Anne Banas, executive editor of smartertravel.com.

Do your ABCs

A vacation to much of the Caribbean during hurricane season — which runs from June through November — can be unpredictable or worse. But some Caribbean islands lie outside the hurricane belt, and prices there drop for the summer too.

Though not bargain-basement cheap, a trip to the so-called ABC islands — Aruba, Bonaire and Curacao — is more affordable in summer than winter, and you will be outside the danger zone.

FLICKR: MALIAS

Be Flexible

Above all, if you stay flexible about every aspect of your trip, you will save the most.

For deals, Clampet recommends "flash" travel sites, which take the approach of members-only clothing and accessories sellers like Rue La La or Gilt and offer travel at steep discounts for brief periods. Options include sniqueaway.com, VoyagePrive.com and jetsetter.com. Because these sites are new, they're very competitive, Jason Clampet, senior online editor of Frommers.com says.

Breakfast bruschetta

Strawberries and ricotta make this a sweet variation

Traditional tomato bruschetta has become so ubiquitous you can even buy jars of prepared toppings and pre-toasted bread.

So we decided to reinvent it as a breakfast or dessert item.

Instead of starting with garlic-rubbed toast, we take slices of baguette and slather them with low-fat, yet creamy part-skim ricotta cheese.

If you like, you could vary the recipe by using reduced-fat cream cheese or even thick Greek-style yogurt.

We then top them with sliced strawberries and a drizzle of honey — reminiscent of the tomatoes and olive oil from traditional versions.

Capping the creamy strawberry toasts is a sprinkle of herbs to add a fresh counterpoint to all the sweetness.

While these strawberry-ricotta bruschetta are a natural fit as part of a breakfast or brunch, they make a tasty appetizer as well.

For a tart variation, toss the diced strawberries in a sweet balsamic vinegar glaze before assembling and skip the honey drizzle.

▶ Strawberry-Ricotta Bruschetta

Ingredients:

- 1 baguette (12 inches/30 cm long), cut into 20 slices
- 1 1/4 cups (300 mL) part-skim ricotta cheese
- 1 lb (500 g) strawberries, hulled and finely diced
- Liquid honey
- 20 fresh mint or basil leaves, cut into thin strips

Preparation:

1. Place baguette slices on baking sheet and toast in 400 F (200 C) oven for about 8 minutes or until lightly golden.
2. Spread each slice with about 1 tbsp (15 mL) of ricotta cheese. Divide diced strawberries among slices of toast.
3. Drizzle with honey and sprinkle with mint to serve.
4. Place baguette slices on baking sheet and toast in 400 F (200 C) oven for about 8 minutes or until lightly golden. Makes 10 servings.

Ricotta Brunch Trifle

ASSOCIATED PRESS

For a fresh, spring themed dessert, get the kids involved in layering on the tiers of this tantalizing trifle.

Don't be fooled by this dish's name — whether you serve it morning, noon or night, this classic is always a winner with friends and family alike.

As you dive in, savour the flavour of every layer from the squeeze of honey to the handfuls of fresh blueberries and raspberries.

Ingredients:

- 1 tub (475 g) smooth ricotta cheese
- 2 tsp (10 mL) grated orange zest
- ¼ cup (60 mL) orange juice
- 2 tbsp (30 mL) liquid honey
- 2 cups (500 mL) quartered strawberries
- 1-½ cups (375 mL) fresh blueberries or raspberries
- 1 banana, sliced
- 1 pkg (6 oz/175 g) amaretti cookies
- Fresh mint leaves

Preparation:

1. In bowl, whisk together ricotta cheese, orange zest and juice, and honey; set aside.
2. In large bowl, combine strawberries, blueberries and bananas.
3. Place one third of the cookies on the bottom of a trifle bowl or 7-cup (1.75 L) flat bottomed bowl.
4. Top with one third of the ricotta mixture and one third of the fruit mixture. Repeat twice with remaining ingredients
5. Cover and refrigerate for at least 2 hours or for up to 1 day. Garnish with mint before serving. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

STUDENT VOICE

SARAH SAYED
TALENTEGG.CA

My curiousity and interests led me to graduate with two degrees from the University of Ottawa: a degree in biochemistry and a degree in chemical engineering.

While still in school, I was warned that landing a job would be difficult, so I attended several career fairs and actively researched the job market.

A year later, I am still looking for work. Family friends frequently point out that their son with only one degree has found a job, so what am I doing wrong?

Having two degrees, I am considered over-qualified for some positions, while lacking the experience employers expect. I have laboratory research experience in the university and hospital setting; however this does not qualify as engineering experience.

Post-graduation is difficult for everyone. I have friends who have done co-op placements with the government, with rave reviews from their bosses, only to not land a job after graduation due to departmental freezes.

Success comes from good timing, being open-minded and persistent, but in the end it's dumb luck!

SUBMITTED

▶ Sarah Sayed wants employers to give job candidates more face time so that passionate, driven individuals such as herself won't be so easily overlooked.

Most of my colleagues have gotten jobs by networking with their contacts. A friend of mine landed a job through someone his mom met while working out at the gym.

I think employers should organize more events where potential recruits can meet with company members as part of the application process. A good personality and passion for the organization's work is much more important in the long term than experience.

While the volume of applicants makes it impossible to allow job seekers to call or meet with employers, many excellent candidates will be overlooked if screening is done solely on the basis of the number of key words that exactly reiterate the job requirements.

What I learned

Key take-aways from Sarah's school-to-work transition

- Before you graduate, research what kind of experience is in-demand in your industry by asking your professors, searching online and arranging informational interviews with professionals in your field.
- Tell everyone in your network that you're looking for work – you never know who might be able to hook you up with your dream job!

THE CODE OF COMPLAINTS

WORKPLACE LAW

DANIEL LUBLIN
DAN@CANADA EMPLOYMENTLAWYER.COM
TWITTER: @DANLUBLIN

Employees often author their own workplace misfortunes. Few take advantage of this country's lenient labour laws and fewer challenge their employer's decisions, however unjust. Most will just complain. But if you have an inclination to fight back, here are some key do's and don'ts:

Do not expect that promotional decisions will be made fairly. There is no legal requirement to promote the longest serving or most meritorious employee.

Do protest your employer's decisions that you disagree with, such as a poor performance appraisal, and do it in writing. Failing to respond simply conveys to your employer that you agreed with its decision or at least that you did not care enough to complain about it .

Do not sign contracts without negotiating first. Employers deliberately prepare employer friendly agreements, since most people will just agree to what they are given, happy to get anything at all. Contracts are always negotiable – so push back on one-sided terms.

Do be wary of skeletons in your closet. Just about every employee has one. If yours is so bad you can't risk it being exposed, then do not challenge your employer's decision to discipline or dismiss you, however unjust. Some workplace skeletons, although not harmful to your case, will ultimately be harmful to your career.

Kesler playing like playoff MVP

Selke Trophy finalist leading the way during Canucks playoff run

Ryan Kesler can let his motor idle for a few days.

The gritty centre is the engine that helped drive the Vancouver Canucks over the Nashville Predators into the NHL Western Conference final. Kesler and his teammates will now have some time to relax and repair after the league announced Game 1 of the next series won't begin until Sunday (CBC, 8 p.m.) at Rogers Arena.

"It will be good to get some practice time and really get some down time," Kesler said yesterday. "Rest and recovery is going to be key because it's not going to get any easier going forward. We need to have everyone healthy and everyone going."

The Canucks will play in the conference final for the first time since 1994. It's only the third time in the franchise's 40-year history the team has advanced to the third round.

Kesler set the tone for Monday night's 2-1 victory in Game 6 by crashing into Predator goaltender Pekka Rinne early in the game, then assisted on both of Vancouver's goals.

During the series, Kesler had five goals in three games. Two of his goals were game winners, one in overtime. He was on the ice for 11 of Vancouver's 14 goals and finished the series with 11 points.

"We made a couple steps forward. Everything that people said we couldn't do, we did this year."
PREDATORS COACH BARRY TROTZ

When the Canucks looked lost, it was Kesler that led the way. He killed penalties, was rock solid on defence and delivered some bruising hits.

"He was driving our bus," said coach Alain Vigneault. "He played real strong. We need him to continue, without a doubt."

Kesler's name has been mentioned as a potential playoff MVP. Nashville coach Barry Trotz even compared Kesler to Hall of Famer Mark Messier.

"You play the game to be your best," said Kesler. "For others to recognize that, especially the other team's coach to say something like that, obviously it's satisfying." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Avery's same-sex stance draws criticism

New York Ranger Sean Avery's support for same-sex marriage has drawn fire from a hockey agent.

"Very sad to read Sean Avery's misguided support of same-gender 'marriage.' Legal or not, it will always be wrong," said a tweet from Todd Reynolds, vice-president of Uptown Sports Management, whose clientele includes Chris Neil, Cody McCormick and Mike Fisher.

Avery stated his support in a video that is part of the New Yorkers for Marriage Equality campaign.

After his initial tweet, Reynolds continued.

"To clarify. This is not hatred or bigotry towards gays. It is not intolerance in any way shape or form. I believe we are all equal." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nash avoids discipline ahead of medal round

PETR DAVID JOSEK.THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

12 Rick Nash is the only Canadian player who was part of the 2010 Olympics, while the Russians have 12 returnees from that tournament.

The Russia-Canada rivalry will look a little different this time to Rick Nash.

With the teams set to meet in the quarter-finals at the IIHF World Hockey Championship tomorrow (TSN, 2:15 p.m), the talented winger is facing his first do-or-die game as national team captain in Slovakia.

Nash's leadership will be extremely important for a young Canadian team that won all six of its round-robin games and still drew Alex Ovechkin, Ilya Kovalchuk and Co. to open the medal round.

The Canadian team made the trip from Kosice to Bratislava yesterday. Before getting on the plane, Nash was informed the IIHF had chosen not to hand out further discipline for his huge hit on Mikael Backlund during a 3-2 win over Sweden on Monday.

"You know the only reason I would have been worried was because of the media asking me about it," said Nash. "I didn't think it was that bad at all."

It was an important decision for Canada because Nash appears to be finding his top gear and he has a tremendous amount of international experience.

Bynum will miss time for flagrant

Plenty of questions surround Lakers after Dallas sweep

Andrew Bynum wishes he could take back his flagrant foul on Dallas guard J.J. Barea during the Los Angeles Lakers' final playoff game, a mistake that got him suspended for five games next season.

The league also fined Bynum $25,000 US for ripping off his jersey while heading to the locker-room, which means the suspension will cost Bynum more than $700,000.

Bynum said his actions "don't represent me, my upbringing, this franchise or any of the Laker fans out there that want to watch us and want us to succeed."

We've been forced to take a close look in the mirror, and I think we're going to come back and respond.
LAKERS GUARD DEREK FISHER

"I want to actually apologize to J.J. Barea for doing that. I'm just glad that he wasn't seriously injured in the event," Bynum said.

While Bynum expressed remorse for his costly cheap-shot, power forward Pau Gasol likely had the most questions to answer at the exit interviews. His scoring and rebounding averages and shooting percentage all declined precipitously in the playoffs.

"Our execution was inconsistent throughout the series," Gasol said. "We just got away from the keys and elements of our offence and our game. They were adding up to the point where it seemed like we barely knew each other at the last game. It's an experience we all should learn from."

Gasol averaged just 13.1 points and 7.8 rebounds in Los Angeles' 10 playoff games, taking much of the heat for the Lakers' struggles from incensed fans.

Tiger to return for Players

About all Tiger Woods can say about the injuries to his knee and Achilles tendon is that he is "good enough to play" in the Players Championship.

Woods says he practised on the range in Ponte Verda Beach, Fla., Monday for the first time since the Masters. His first round of golf since he tied for fourth at Augusta National was yesterday at the TPC Sawgrass, though that was only nine holes.

He says his left knee and right Achilles tendon are better, but he'll have to wait and see how they respond in his first tournament in a month.

The Players Championship begins tomorrow on a course where Woods has not finished better then eighth since winning 10 years ago.

Ice Edge out of Coyotes soap opera

Ice Edge Holdings has withdrawn its minority interest in the proposed purchase of the Phoenix Coyotes ahead of a Glendale city council vote that would put off finalizing any deal by as long as a year.

Ice Edge CEO Anthony LeBlanc said yesterday that his organization had been involved in the process with the Coyotes "long enough." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rear

Kia's designers have done a pretty good job at loping off the sedan's trunk and integrating the new rear end of the Forte5.

The lines remain crisp and purposeful from all angles, accentuated by the blacked-out door pillars and wrap-around taillights.

From the back though, the Forte5 appears suspiciously similar to the Subaru Impreza, a vehicle that automaker unabashedly refers to as a wagon. No wonder there's confusion out there.

Carrying capacity

The most important measurement for any practical hatch is the volume of stuff it can carry.

With the rear seat folded flat, the Forte5 can swallow a fair chunk of groceries; more than the Toyota Matrix or Mitsubishi Lancer Sportback but not as much as the Hyundai Elantra Touring or the diminutive (but surprisingly spacious) Honda Fit.

Engine

Common to all Forte body styles is the two-engine lineup. The base LX and EX models run with the 156-horsepower 2.0-litre four-cylinder, while a 173-horsepower 2.4-litre four-cylinder belongs to the fancier SX. Fuel economy with the base engine and automatic transmission is rated at 5.5 l/100 km city and 8.0 highway. Those impressive numbers are sufficient to propel the Forte5 to the head of its compact wagon/hatchback class.

▶ As more people downsize in the name of fuel economy, the available cars will have to do and hold more. No problem for the Kia Forte5, but it also has available leather seating, climate control and navigation, so you can save gas and still get a comfy ride.

More than an 'economy car'

MALCOLM GUNN
DRIVE@METRONEWS.CA
WHEELBASE MEDIA

The term "fuel economy" has always brought with it the "economy car" stigma, but there's a definite shift going on in 2011: good on gas can also mean a good car.

Maybe even a great car.

As if Kia was trying to prove the point, buyers now have a highly versatile Forte5 as well as the sedan and two-door "Koup" to choose from.

The Korea-based automaker refers to the Forte5 as a hatchback, but there's little to differentiate it from most typical wagons. Some might argue that the rear opening must be virtually vertical for a wagon to be called a wagon, while others believe the amount of storage space is the ideal determining factor.

In any event, if Kia prefers calling the Forte5 (obviously not bothering to differentiate between passenger doors and rear-access cargo openings) a hatchback, then so be it.

In any event, the four-door Forte5 uses the same basic platform as the sedan and both cars are equal in width and in distance between the front and rear wheels. However, the Forte5 is actually shorter in overall length by about 19 centimetres and is trimmer by about 23 kilograms as a result.

Whether entry level or loaded to the hilt, the Forte5 is a handsome, practical and affordable hauler.

▶ Kia keeps on ratcheting up the quality of its interiors. Although there's still plenty of plastic, the inside is both visually interesting and plenty functional.

▶ Kia somehow managed to dial a bit more passenger space into the Forte5, likely due to a slightly higher roofline.

Kia Forte5

What you should know about the 2011 Kia Forte5:

- Types: Four-door compact hatchback.
- Engine (hp): 2.0-litre DOHC I4 (156); 2.4-litre DOHC I4 (173).
- Transmission: Six-speed manual; six-speed automatic (opt.).
- Market position: Compact hatchbacks and wagons appear to be gaining in popularity as more buyers seek smaller and thriftier vehicles that offer the maximum in versatility.
- Point: Extra-long comprehensive and powertrain warranties give the Forte5 an edge.
- Stats: L/100 km (city/hwy) 5.5/8.0 (AT).

LUXURY HYBRIDS ARE THE NEWEST, OLDEST WAVE

AUTO PILOT

MIKE GOETZ
DRIVE
@METRONEWS.CA

Flared jeans are coming back. This time I'll take a pass. I suffered enough. I wore them all through high school in the 1970s, combined with long, centre-parted hair.

But some things are definitely worth reviving. A case in point is luxury and high-performance cars, augmented with electrical power.

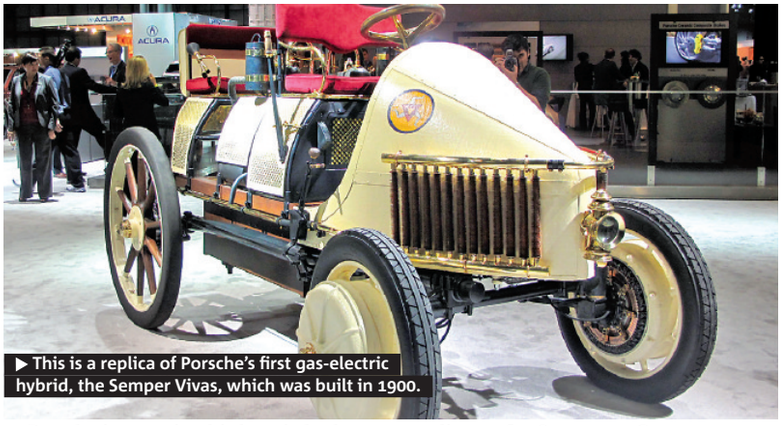
They're hybrids, yes, but hybrids on the other side of the spectrum from Toyota Prius.

The Prius and its ilk are all about fuel efficiency. The cache of a luxury/performance hybrid, however, is three-fold: increased power, increased fuel efficiency, and the fact that this power and efficiency is only possible through exclusive and expensive technology not everybody can afford.

Like how many people will be able to afford the crazy new hybrid that Jaguar just announced?

Based on the C-X75 concept the British automaker displayed at the 2010 Paris auto show, production versions will be restricted to just 200 examples, at 700,000-plus British Pounds each?

I believe that translates to over $1 million Canadian dollars, but I'm not sure, as I have been trying to stay away from math ever since Mr. Runstedtler's Grade 10 calculus class.



▶ This is a replica of Porsche's first gas-electric hybrid, the Semper Vivas, which was built in 1900.

Porsche is on to its third hybrid. By fall, we should see the $108,700 Panamera S Hybrid, which shares the same V6-electric powertrain as the Cayenne S Hybrid.

The other hybrid is a race car — the 911 GT3 R Hybrid. When the Panamera S Hybrid was first shown in North America, at the recent auto show in New York, it was accompanied by a replica of Porsche's — and probably the world's — first gas-electric hybrid.

Ferdinand Porsche was just 24, when he engineered and built the 1900 Semper Vivas, as a member of the Austrian coach-building firm Jacob Lohner.

Only one example was ever built, and it didn't survive.

The Porsche Museum in Stuttgart, Germany, commissioned restorer, Hubert Drescher, to recreate the car, from only one known picture, and several sketches.

I had a chance to speak to Mr. Drescher, at the New York show, and he noted there is not one original part on the car. It was completely re-created.

But the horn and the two 1.7-litre, single-cylinder De Dion Bouton engines are exactly the same vintage and type used on the original car. He found the engines at a flea market. Good score.

The engines drive the rear wheels, and power a dynamo that juices the massive battery pack and the two enormous electric motors fitted to the front wheels.

The Semper Vivas can go 35-40 km/h on a flat road, pretty heady stuff for 1900. But a hill climber it is not. It weights almost two tons.

Gas was pretty cheap and abundant in 1900. The young Ferdinand Porsche was not looking for electricity as a transportation salvation fuel, as some do today.

He was simply looking for ways to satisfy his — and the collective's — desire for powerful, high-performing automobiles.

Like another visionary, Yogi Berra, once opinioned: "It's like déjà-vu all over again."

SECOND GEAR

JUSTIN PRITCHARD
DRIVE@METRONEWS.CA

BMW's X3 launched in 2004 as a smaller alternative to the brand's X5 SUV.

With a smaller and lighter body, car-like driving dynamics and a range of available engine options, this small, upscale SUV was engineered to cater to active shoppers who didn't intend to slow down for bad weather.

Power came from several BMW straight-six engines, including both 2.5 and 3.0-litre units making 184 or 225 horsepower in early 2.5i and 3.0i models, respectively. From 2007 and on, the three-litre unit was the sole engine offering, making 215 or 260 horsepower in 3.0i and 3.0si trim.

BMW's nomenclature change in 2009 saw the X3 switch to an "xDrive30i" badge, while a less powerful xDrive28i version was offered, too. All-wheel drive was standard on all models, and used shoppers can even search out an X3 with a six-speed manual on pre-2009 units. Five or six-speed automatic transmissions were available otherwise.

Look for feature content including heated leather, a sunroof, automatic climate control, wood trim, premium audio, tinted glass and plenty more.

What's the 4-1-1

- Model: 2004 to 2010 BMW X3
- Vehicle Type: Crossover SUV
- Approximate used price range: $13,000 to $35,000

The Verdict

X3 won't be the used SUV market's cheapest choice — but most owners agree it hits the mark where elevated levels of styling, handling and comfort are concerned.
